

After a long hiatus, the Squirrel Nut Zippers are pleased to return to the road and are booking a tour for later this year! The band has already announced several dates including upcoming performances at the Montreal Jazz Festival, Sausalito Arts Festival and the LEAF Festival.

2016 marks the 20th anniversary of the Squirrel Nut Zippers most celebrated and commercially successful album, Hot. Originally released in the summer of 1996, Hot was the follow up to the band's critically acclaimed debut The Inevitable. By this time the group had already established a substantial live following across the country thanks to early support from NPR, college radio and non-commercial stations. Hot wound up selling over 1.3 million copies.

In honor of the 20th Anniversary of the album, the bands visionary creator Jimbo Mathus (vocals, guitar), along with founding member and partner Chris Phillips (drums), have crafted a brand new stage show including singer Ingrid Lucia of Flying Neutrino's fame. Several leading musicians from New Orleans have also been enlisted to serve up the bands unique musical flavor which owes its roots to that city.
